4. Privacy Statement

The ESC maintains a membership database of all current Society members; the database might also contain past members, prospective members, and non-members. The membership database includes such data as contact information, regional society affiliation, records of payments, Annual Meeting registration information, and volunteer activities. This type of database is similar to that used by most professional societies and associations.

We value our members' right to privacy and will do what we can to protect and preserve it. We do not intentionally "spam" members by fax, e-mail, mail, or telephone. The ESC does not rent or sell the membership database or any of its contents. We do not hire telemarketing firms nor do we hire fax broadcasters. The ESC will on occasion use the information in the membership database to contact our members with Society information such as meeting deadlines, election announcements, and dues renewal notices. The primary mode of communication will be via e-mail. Regular mail, telephone, fax or other means may also be used.
